

Hélène Charreire

Helene.charreire@u-pec.fr

Based on a multi-disciplinary formation (in geography of health and in public health) my research activities are mainly focused on the study of the relationship between urban environment, mobility and health and on issues of socio-spatial inequalities in access to care.

2010 : Associate professor in Geography at the Université Paris Est, Créteil (UPEC), Lab'Urba (EA3482, UPEC, UPEM, EIVP).

2007-2010 : Post-doctoral researcher at the Equipe de Recherche en Epidémiologie Nutritionnelle (Inserm 1153/Inra 1125/Cnam/Universités Paris V, VII, XIII - Département des pathologies chroniques du CRESS)

2007 : Public Health PhD at the Université Paris-Sud, Centre de recherche, médecine, sciences, santé, santé mentale, société (CERMES) - UMR CNRS 8211 - Unité Inserm 988 - EHES - Université Paris Descartes: « Perinatal health and urban environment: a geographical analysis of social health inequalities in Seine-Saint-Denis »

Educational and Scientific Responsibilities

Member of steering committee (CODIR) of the Lab'Urba (2016-)

Member of CAC COMUE Paris Est (2016-)

Member of laboratory committee Lab'Urba (2015-)

Co-coordinator of research team MUP « Mobilités Urbaines Pédestres » Labex Futurs Urbains, Université Paris Est (2015-)

Coordinator of the professional license for land use planning and urban planning, UPEC (2017-)